Valuable Property for Sale.
THE Subscriber will Sell the whole or any part of the following described Valuable Property, viz:—
A LOT OF GROUND, situated at the corner of Smithfield and Second Streets, in the City of Pittsburgh, containing 50 feet in front on Smithfield Street, and 66 and an half feet in depth. This Lot can be conveniently divided into two handsome building Lots of 25 feet front each; and the scite of the Bridge over the Monongahela River being fixed at the mouth of Smithfield Street, renders them eligible stands for Mercantile, Manufacturing, or Mechanical business.
THREE LOTS OF GROUND in the City of Pittsburgh—one fronting on Second Street, opposite the New Market, fronting a square of 100 feet wide extending to Smithfield Street, containing 40 feet front on Second Street, and extending in depth towards Front Street 65 feet, on which is erected a large and commodious Warehouse, suitable for any person engaged in Commission business—and its vicinity to the river, renders it peculiarly advantageous to [illegible] The other two Lots are situated on the north side of Front Street—one of them containing 40 feet front on Front Street, and extending in depth towards Second Street 65 feet, on which is erected a large two story Frame Dwelling House, recently occupied by Thomas Bracken—the other adjoining the above 20 feet in front on Front Street, and 65 feet deep; both eligible situations for business.
Also, AN OUT LOT, adjoining the City, containing about 16 acres, and adjoining property belonging to Doctor George Stevenson, and James R. Butler, bounded on the Monongahela river, and the public road leading to the Turnpike at Thompson's Lane. This Lot is in the highest state of cultivation, with a thriving young Orchard of the best grafted fruit, a Brick Spring House, over one of the finest springs in the Western Country, and a variety of other improvements. This Lot will be Sold either in whole, or be divided into small Lots, to suit purchasers, a plan of which may be seen on application to the subscriber.
The whole of the above described property, recently belonged to the late Thomas Bracken. The terms will be liberal and accommodating to purchasers. Any person wishing to view any part of the property, will apply to the subscriber, or those on the premises.

PITTSBURGH
Soap & Candle Manufactory,
SECOND, BETWEEN FERRY AND MARKET STREETS.
THE Subscriber having considerably enlarged his Works, is ready to receive orders for supplying SOAP, hard or soft, which he engages to deliver on as good terms as can be procured from any other quarter.
Large speculations for the purpose of sending over the mountains, having drained the necessary supplies of Tallow from the market, obliges him to apologise for his present inability to supply the demand for Candles. He hopes his friends will see the necessity of prompt payment, in order to prevent in future such a procedure, to counteract which is indispensably necessary, as it is a fact beyond doubt that the markets at the most productive seasons are barely sufficient to meet the increasing wants of the inhabitants, in an article so necessary.
NICHOLAS O'CALLAGHAN.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1816.

STATE OF ROME.

. . . . . , Alas!—Rude fragments now
Lie scatter'd where the shapely column stood;
Her palaces are dust! . . . . . .

Our readers will probably peruse with interest, the following sketch of the once, far famed "Mistress of the World," from the Journal of an English Traveller;

"Rome, June 10, 1813.—I was at Rome in the year 1791; the city then contained 160,000 inhabitants, the luxury in equipages and liveries was considerable; in many of the great houses the foreigner met with a hospitable reception, and every thing indicated a great and opulent capital. I entered the city this time by the same road, and instead of carriages was met by droves of oxen, goats and half wild horses, driven along by black-eyed herdsmen, armed with long pikes, and muffled up in their cloaks, they looked like Tartars. The dust raised by the cattle filled the air. These herdsmen with their charge seek every evening, within the walls, a refuge from the pestiferous atmosphere of the environs. They take possession of the quarters and palaces which are abandoned to them by the population, in proportion as it diminishes, and is crowded together with the unwholesome air into the centre of the city. The Porta Populi, Trans-Tiberine quarter, and those of the Quirinal and the Mountain of the Trinity, are already deserted by their inhabitants, and country people have settled in them. The population of Rome is reduced to 100,000 souls, and this number includes more than 40,000 vine-dressers, herdsmen and gardeners. Extensive districts of the city are transformed into villages, and are occupied by rustics, driven by the insalubrity of the atmosphere from their former dwellings. Such a prodigious depopulation in the short space of twenty two years, is almost unprecedented. The political events of that period have doubtless contributed much to its diminution; but the principal cause must be sought in the general relations of Rome, and in the effects of its noxious atmosphere. This scourge is every year making fresh encroachments; every year overspreads streets, palaces and quarters, and every year its baneful influence must augment, because it acts in an inverse ratio to the assistance opposed by the population. The fewer the inhabitants, the greater the number of victims; and every funeral is the avant courier of many more. That period, therefore, is probably not far distant, when this queen of cities will be completely shorn of her splendour, and nothing be left of her but that glorious name, which time cannot destroy. The traveller will then find at Rome, as he now does at Volterra, nought but a vast collection of monuments, palaces, and ruins of every age. The marks of near approaching destruction are impressed upon every part of Rome. As there are many more houses than inhabitants, no person thinks of repairing his own—if it becomes ruinous, he seeks another elsewhere; to mend a door, &c. would be deemed labor thrown away—they tumble down, and as they fall are left lying. In this manner, numbers of convents are now transformed into ruinous shells; many palaces are become uninhabited, and no one takes the trouble even to secure their doors. This abandonment; this Tartar population filling the streets with their cattle, already present striking characteristics of decay and ruin.

"Amid this neglect of the private buildings' a strong anxiety for the preservation of such remains of antiquity as time has spared, is observable. The government are carrying on works upon an extensive plan, according to which, all those which are partly covered with rubbish, are to be cleared, and to be connected and grouped, that these precious relics shall present a view at once picturesque and agreeable.

"All the environs of the Vatican, with the exception of the main street conducting to it' are likewise abandoned to herdsmen. I was particularly struck with their desolate appearance, early one morning, when I set out to visit St. Peter's. The sun had just risen when I reached the great square, the doors of the Cathedral were still shut; profound silence every where prevailed, except that at a distance I heard the bells of the cattle returning to their pasture. Not a creature was to be seen, and I arrived in the fore-court without having met with one human being. The coolness of the morning and the tints of the dawn, diffused an inexpressible charm over the enchanting solitude. I beheld the temple, its colonnades, and the sky before me, and never had my mind so deeply felt the sublime magnificence of nature, at the moment of separation between day and night.

"At length the doors of the Church opened, and its bells announced the opening day, but in vain did their sound summon the Christian to their devotions. Not a soul came to implore the blessing of heaven.—This temple, the most splendid monument that the world ever raised to the divinity ——this temple already stands in a desert——the grass grows in its fore-courts, and moss springs up on its walls. It already relates the glory and magnificence of past ages, and prepares to proclaim to future generations, the genius and the piety of the times in which it was founded."

Discovery of an ancient British Sceptre.

The British sceptre, lately found in the Tower of London, is noticed by a Mr. Swift, in the following particulars:

It was discovered last year behind a massy oak press, which is apparently several hundred years old. It was in a case, covered with crimson velvet, extremely decayed; many of the jewels had dropped out of their settings, but none were lost out of the case. The sceptre is of gold, richly ornamented with diamonds and other gems, but in a style of workmanship extremely antique; the jewels, some of which are very large, amount to considerably beyond the number of two hundred. On the top is a white onyx dove, with her wings expanded, and the feet resting on a cross. I have examined the records of our several coronations, and find in none any notice of this fifth sceptre. There are two with a cross for the king and queen, and two with a dove. At certain parts of the ceremony, they hold a sceptre in each hand; but in no part are they required to change these sceptres, and they cannot of course hold three. My own opinion is, which I offer with much deference, that when the ancient regalia were ordered by the Parliament, in the time of Charles I. to be broken up and sold, this sceptre was concealed from their ravages, and that the secret was lost before the Restoration. At that time a new regalia was made for Charles II. and I conjecture that a new sceptre, with the dove, was then provided in lieu of this ancient one, which was supposed to have shared the fate of the others. Assuredly its existence remained unknown during 175 years, until I had the good fortune to restore it to its place among the royal jewels of Great Britain. The style of its workmanship appears of high antiquity, and I have little hesitation in believing it to be the original sceptre of Edward the Confessor consequently more than 750 years old, and the most ancient of our whole regalia. As the last surviving relic of the Heptarchy, it is an object of national curiosity; many think, of national importance.

THE LADIES' FRIEND.

Historical Extract—and Application.

THE Roman Republicans were plain men and women, accustomed to daily labour, and quite unaccustomed to finery of apparel, or luxury of living. A Roman of even noble blood tilled his little field with his own hands, and was proud of tilling it with superior industry and skill; whilst his lady, if lady she might be called, made it her chief ambition to be an excellent house wife.—While this state of things lasted, and a very long time it did last, the Romans were eager enough to get themselves wives. They married generally, and they married young; for they thought, and well they might, that who so found a wife, found a good thing—a real helpmate, as well as a dear and faithful companion. And what is singularly remarkable if true, it is recorded by a Roman historian, that there had not been known, in the city of Rome, a single instance of divorcement during the whole space of 500 years; though the law had put it in the power of the husband to repudiate his wife almost at pleasure.

Unfortunately for the Roman republic, and more especially for the female part of it, a great and splendid event quite changed the morals, the taste, the habits, and the whole of the country. One hundred and ninety years before the Christian era, the Romans for the first time, entered into Asia with an army, which under Scipio, defeated and conquered Antiochus the Great, King of Syria; and from thence they brought home such a taste for the luxuries of the East, as promoted and hastened the ruin of their commonwealth: and in no way more directly, than by a practical forbiddance of marriage.

The Roman woman once so plain, frugal and industrious, became enamoured of the costly finery that was brought from the East. One of them named Lollia Paulina, when dressed in all her jewels, is said to have worn to the value of three hundred and thirty two thousand pounds sterling. And though this was the most extraordinary instance of the time, yet it is reasonable to suppose that, of the rest of the ladies every one strove to get as near the top of the fashion as she could; and that, with all the females who tho't any thing of themselves, the rage was to be fine and fashionable.

This new order of things, while it precipitated the republic into the abyss of ruin, brought marriage almost into disuse; insomuch that Augustus, the first Roman Emperor, finding among the men a general disinclination to marry, was fain to pass severe penal laws, to force them as it were into the bonds of matrimony—but it was all to little purpose. Despot and tyrant as he was, he found it impossible to compel the bachelors to marry, as Peter the first, long since did, to compel the Russians to shave off their beards.

Was it owing to the licentiousness of the men? Considerably it was, no doubt, but not altogether. It was partly owing to their prudence. A Roman bachelor naturally enough would commune with himself thus; "these extravagant flirts of whose attire a single article costs more than one of them would earn in a whole life time, are fit only for show.—I like mighty well to be in their company at routs and assemblies; but the gods save me from a union with any of them! If I marry, unless she bring me a fortune with her, she will quickly devour mine. Wherefore I will look out for number one only, in spite of the edicts of the Emperor."

Consider, ye AMERICAN FAIR, that, in all times and countries the like causes will produce the like effects.

[Boston Even. Gaz.

From the Gleaner.

The Hon William H Crawford, Secretary at War: in a report to the President on the subject of improving the condition of our "red brethren," has the following paragraph:

"If the system already devised, has not produced all the effects which were expected from it, new experiments ought to be made. When every effort to introduce among them (the Indian savages) ideas of exclusive property, in things real as well as personal, shall fail, let intermarriages between them and the whites be encouraged by the government.—This cannot fail to preserve the race, with the modifications necessary to the enjoyment of civil liberty and social happiness. It is believed that the principles of humanity in this instance, are in harmonious concert with the true interest of the nation. It will redound more to the national honour, to incorporate by a humane and benevolent policy, the natives of our forests in the great American family of freemen, than to receive with open arms the fugitives of the old world, whether their flight has been the effect of their crimes OR THEIR VIRTUES."

This notion of marrying our fair, well formed, high minded Kentucky boys on the frontiers, to the copper-colored, misshapen, stupid Puttawattamy ladies of the woods, seems not to be very well relished by the male part of our citizens, and a writer in the Democratic Press seems to think that our beautiful damsels of the west will not thank the hon. secretary for proposing to wed them to a set of poor, dirty, ear-slit, draggle-tailed Indians.

But, "de gustibus non disputandum est." There is no disputing about tastes. What we like ourselves, we are apt to think not disagreeable to others. Mr. Crawford probably thought a kiss from a pretty little bear-greas'd squaw, no unenviable matter. Indeed, southern appetites are not proverbial for squeamishness in some particulars; and more than one great man seems to have thought with Juba and Mr. Crawford—

"'Tis not a set of features or complexion,
The tincture of the skin that I admire:
Beauty soon grows familiar to the lover,
Fades in his eye and palls upon his sense."

Looking forward to the accomplishment of the hopeful project of the hon. Mr. Crawford, we may expect to see in the western papers—

Married, on Sunday evening last, Mr. John Trotter, of the Illinois Territory, to the amiable Miss Spuallatoadokkafrog Mud-Turtle, daughter of the celebrated chief Split-log. Whether the lady will follow the fortunes of her husband and become civilized, or whether John will take to the forests with his beloved

"And like a greasy Indian shine
And learn to make a broom,"

is a matter of great uncertainty.

Bank of Pittsburgh,

6th MAY, 1816.

THE President and Directors of the Bank of Pittsburgh, have this day declared a dividend of 4 per cent. for the last six months—payable to stockholders or their legal representatives, on or after the fifteenth inst.

ALEX. JOHNSTON, Jun. Cashier.

Notice is hereby given,

THAT I will attend in person or by deputy, at the Court House in Pittsburgh, on Saturday the 22d day of June, instant; at the house of John Brown, in Ross Township, on Monday the 24th of June; at the house of William Marks, in Robinson Township, on Wednesday the 26th day of June; at the house of James Neal, in M'Kee'sport, on Thursday the 27th day of June; at the house of Joseph Ball, in M'Nair's Town, on Monday the first day of July next; at the Court House, in Kittaning, County of Armstrong, on Thursday the 4th day of July next; and at the House of James Waterson, Sugar Creek Township, same County, on Saturday the 6th day of July next; for the purpose of receiving any information that may be furnished as to the changes which may have taken place in the assessable property of individuals since the last assessment made under the act of January 9th, 1815, and previous to the 1st of June, 1816, which information must be given in writing, under the signature of the person whose tax may be affected thereby. These changes extend to 1 Assessable property omitted to be assessed at the preceding assessment, and property that has ceased to be exempted from assessment, such as property belonging to the United States, or a State, or otherwise exempted, which on its transfer becomes assessable. All such property is now to be assessed; but no alteration is to be made in the previous valuation of real estate in virtue of any improvement thereon.

2. Transfers of real estate and slaves, according to which an abatement in the enumerations and the valuations of the person transferring them will be made, and a correspondent increase in the enumerations and valuations of the person to whom the transfer may be made.

3. Changes of residents and non-residents—These changes will merely require a transfer from the list of residents to that of non-residents, or vice versa, as the case may be, of the property in the ownership or agency of which such a change has occurred.

4. The burning or destruction of houses or other fixed improvements of real estate, for which an abatement equal to the injury arising from these causes is to be made.

5. Slaves that have been born, or have died, or have runaway, or have otherwise become useless since the preceding assessment. In these cases, changes in the preceding valuations are only to be made, when the tax chargeable to any person for slaves would be diminished, by the valuation, on the first day of June, of all those (excepting such as have been obtained by transfer) then owned by such person; and the reduction in the valuation, in such event, is to be equal to the difference between the valuation of those owned at the preceding assessment and the existing value of those owned on the first of June, 1816, and an abatement equal to such reduction to be made.

The whole of these changes are to be relative to the first of June, and in all of them the rates of the valuations made under the act of January 9th, 1816, are as near as may be, to be maintained, excepting in two cases: one where a partial alienation of real estate shall occur, in which case as the tax as fixed agreeably to the preceding assessments is to be proportioned among the several parts according to their respective values on the first of June, the proportional value (according to the preceding valuation) at that time of the part alienated, and of the remainder of the property, should be stated: the other respecting slaves (other than such as are transferred within the same collection district) which are to be valued according to their existing value, and slaves that have been born, or have died, or have run away, or have otherwise become useless since the preceding assessment, in which case the course above stated is to be pursued.

Any person becoming the owner of a slave, by transfer to him from a collection district other than that in which he resides, is required under the penalty of ten dollars, to render as aforesaid a statement, specifying the age and sex of such slave, who is to be valued according to his or her existing value.

In all cases in which such information of a change in the assessable property of any person, according to the preceding assessment shall not be so received, such person and property will continue liable to the whole tax chargeable thereon agreeably to that assessment.

AND NOTICE, is further hereby given, that I will attend in person or by deputy, at the Court House in Pittsburgh, on Thursday the 25th of July; at the house of Joseph Ball, in M'Nair's Town, on Friday the 26th July; at the house of John Brown, in Ross Township, on Saturday the 27th July; at the house of William Marks, in Robinson Township, on Monday the 29th July; at the house of James Neal, in M'Kee'sport, on Tuesday the 30th July; at the Court House in Kittaning, on Saturday the 3d August; and at the house of James Waterson, on Monday the 5th August, for the purpose of receiving any appeals that may be made in writing, as to the revised enumerations and valuations made in virtue of such changes, which will be open to the inspection of any person who may apply to inspect the same, and a statement of which will be previously made and delivered to each person affected thereby, or be put in the mail, addressed to him or her, and directed to the Post Office nearest to the abode of such person agreeably to my best information, except in the case of persons not residing within this collection district.

In the statements furnished by individuals, it will be necessary to specify with precision the property of an individual, as it existed at the time of the preceding assessment, the assessable property omitted then to be assessed, and its value; the transfers of real estate and slaves (stating the names and residence of the persons to whom transferred) and their value; the changes of residents and non residents, with their names and residence; and the value of the property; the burning or destruction of houses or other fixed improvements of real estate, with their value; property that has become exempt from taxation, and its value; stating the grounds on which the exemption is claimed, and the state laws by which it is permanently or specially exempted; and when an abatement is claimed for slaves that have died, or have run away, or have otherwise become useless since the preceding assessment, the statement must give a list of all the slaves, with their sex and ages (excepting those obtained by transfer) owned by the individual, valued according to their value on the first of June 1816, which value must be less than that of the valuation of his slaves at the preceding assessment, to entitle him to an abatement. In all these cases there must be such a specification and description of the property, as it stands on the first of June, 1816, and as it stood at the preceding assessment, as will enable the principal assessor to make proper deductions, in cases where they may be rightfully claimed, and proper charges where they are incurred.

To aid in attaining this precision, the following form is annexed, being that required in the original assessment, and which as near as may be, may serve as a model in drawing out the statements now required from individuals.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1816.

The Pirate.—The Nashville Clarion gives us some particulars of the capture of the pirate schooner Comet. She had on board, silver in bars, plate, jewels, &c. said to be worth 50,000 dollars, also a number of negroes. The vessel and cargo were sent up to New Orleans, under the command of the first lieutenant, two midshipmen and twelve men belonging to the Boxer. The notorious Mitchell, commander of the pirate, acknowledged that he took the Governor of the Island of St. Andrews from off the Musqueto shore; that he carried him on board his vessel, and there put him to death. He first shot the Governor, and then hung him at the fore-yard. The Comet, had a long brass 12 pounder mounted, and three others in her hold, and 85 men. The Boxer has sailed in quest of another pirate said to be in the Gulph, with a valuable cargo on board. This pirate is armed with one 32 pounder, and one long 12 do. with 160 men.

By an arrival at Edenton, N. C. some further intelligence is brought of the insurrection in the West-India islands. The captain of the vessel, states, that a few days before he sailed, a British schooner arrived at St. Eustatia, in a short passage from Antigua, bringing an account that the Blacks of the Island of St. Vincents had revolted and obtained possession of that island, except the fortifications, which were in the hands of a small body of troops stationed there. The master of the schooner further asserted, that an insurrection had broken out at Barbadoes, and that the Blacks had destroyed thirteen estates. The islands of Antigua and Barbadoes were declared under martial law.

We understand, says the Milledgeville Journal, that General GAINES has gone to the Escambia, a short river which empties near Pensacola, with the view of erecting a fort in that neighbourhood. If government has any apprehension of a war with Spain, a cordon of posts should be established along the whole coast of Florida.

Yesterday forenoon, one of the most singular and successful instances of presence of mind, occurred in William street, that perhaps ever happened. Mr. Talman Lowere, painter, employed on Mr Sterling's house, while on the top of his ladder, discovered a horse running with his cart in the direction of the foot of the ladder. The painter instantly leaped from the ladder, and seized the cornice gutter. The cart knocked down the ladder, but the man hung to the cornice untill it was raised again by the bye-standers to his relief—having thus, no doubt, providentially, saved his life, by his presence of mind.—N. Y. Gaz.

From the Boston Centinel of Saturday.

A passenger in the Eastern Stage informs, that they yesterday took in a British Messenger at Saco, who had just been landed from a frigate, and is going to Washington with despatches. The Messenger left London the 31st March.

Two Methodist preachers were lately robbed of their pocket-books, containing very considerable sums of Bank Notes, while attending the funeral of the venerable Bishop ASBURY, at Baltimore. As these were probably southern fog notes, the charge cannot lay against these preachers of having disobeyed the injunction, to take neither gold, nor silver, nor brass, in your purses."

An arrival at Norfolk, in 36 days from London, furnishes us with intelligence as late as the 6th of April. The agricultural interest is represented as much distressed, and many petitions have been presented to parliament for relief. A motion by the marquis of Buckingham to inquire into the state of Ireland, was negatived, 151 to 60. Louis has issued an ordinance re-organizing the legion of honor. A convoy is stated to have arrived in safety from Mexico to Vera Cruz, containing 80,000 dollars. The approaching nuptials of Ferdinand, are to be celebrated by magnificent tilts, tournaments and bull feasts. The pope has repealed the concordat. It is said that a deep and alarming conspiracy against the Spanish monarch has been detected by the means of the torture. The duke of Wellington's remonstrance to Louis, of which we have heard so much, is said to be greatly exaggerated. It is rumored that Louis contemplates a change of his ministers, and that the ultra royalists will be taken into favour.—Fed. Rep.

It is with pleasure we record the following instance of noble fidelity and generosity, so honorable to the character of Frenchmen:

"M. de Lavalette, flying with his deliverer, had approached the frontier.—The postmaster in examining his countenance recognized him through his disguise, and instantly a postillion was sent off at full speed.—M. de Lavalette urged his demand for horses. The postmaster had quitted the house, and had given orders that none should be supplied: the travellers fancied themselves discovered, and saw no means of escaping, in a country with which they were unacquainted; they resolved upon defending their lives dearly. The postmaster at length returned unattended, and addressing himself to M. de Lavalette, he said, "you have the apperance of a man of honor' you are going to Brussels, where you will see M. de Lavalette; deliver him these 200 Louis, which I owe him, and which he is no doubt in want of," and without waiting for an answer, he threw the money into the carriage and withdrew, saying, you will be drawn by my best horses, a postillion is gone on to provide relays for the continuance of your journey." Balt. Amer.

FASHION!

What could exhibit, says Dr. Henry, "a more fantastical appearance than an English beau of the 14th century? He wore long pointed shoes, fastened to his knees by gold or silver chains; hose of one colour on one leg, and of another colour on the other; short breeches, which did but reach to the middle of the thighs ——a coat, the one half white, the other half black or blue; a long beard, a silk hood buttoned under his chin, embroidered with grotesque figures of animals, dancing men, &c. and sometimes ornamented with gold and precious stones." This dress was the height of the mode in the reign of King Edward III.

MELANCHOLY SHIPWRECK.

The ship Melantho, capt. Puntine, of New-York, the second day out from Limerick for Barcelona, was cast away and totally lost, on the 13th of March last, on the Irish coast' between the channel and Galway Bay. We lament to add that all on board perished, including the wife of captain Puntine and his brother.

By the Betsey, arrived at New York from Jamaica, we learn, that reports had been received there by way of Panama, on the Main, that Admiral Brown, with the Buenos Ayres fleet, had been in the Pacifick Ocean, and made a great number of prizes; that he had assailed and taken the fortress of Xunyaguil, on the coast of New Grenada; and that, emboldened by these successes, he had penetrated with his forces into the interior where he had been defeated and made prisoner. IRISH POTATOES.

The ship Globe arrived at Baltimore on the 4th inst. from Newry, freighted with potatoes, which cost in Ireland eight pence per bushel, and are retailing in Baltimore at two dollars!

[SELECTED.]

"TURNING THE GRINDSTONE!"

When I was a little boy, I remember one cold winter's day, I was accosted by a smiling man, with an axe on his shoulder. "My pretty boy, said he, has your father a Grindstone?" "Yes sir," said I. "You are a fine little fellow, said he. will you let me grind my axe on it?" Pleased with his compliment of "fine little fellow." "O yes, sir, I answered, it is down in the shop."—"And will you my man, said he, tapping me on the head, get a little hot water?" How could I refuse? I ran and soon brought a kettle full—"How old are you, and what is your name?" continued he without waiting for a reply. "I am sure you are one of the finest lads that ever I have seen: will you just turn a few minutes?" Tickled with the flattery, like a fool I went to work, and bitterly did I rue the day. It was a new axe, and I toiled and tugged, till I was almost tired to death. The school bell rung, and I could not get away; my hands were blistered, and it was not half ground. At length, however, the axe was sharpened and the man turned to me with "now you little rascal, you've played the truant, send to school, or you'll rue it." Alas! thought I, it was hard enough to turn the grindstone this cold day, but now to be called 'little rascal.' was too much. It sunk deep in my mind, and often have I thought of it since.

When I have seen a man of doubtful character, patting a girl on the cheek, praising her sparkling eye and ruby lip, and giving her a sly squeeze—beware, my girl, tho't I, or you will find to your sorrow, that you have been turning a grindstone for a villain.

When I see a man flattering the people, making great professions of attachment to liberty, who is in private life a tyrant; methinks, look out good people, that fellow would set you to turning grindstones.

When I see a man holding a fat office, "sounding the horn on the borders" to call the people to support the man on whom he depends for his office, Well, thinks I, no wonder the man is zealous in this cause, he evidently has an axe to grind.

PETERSBURGH, (Va.) May 14.

Horrid Suicide!—On the evening of Tuesday the 7th inst. the body of a man was found about fifty yards from the road leading from Petersburgh to Richmond, about seven and a half miles from the former place, by a negro boy looking for cows who ran directly to a gentleman hard by and informed him of it. He went to the spot and found the body of a man about five feet six inches high, with large black whiskers.—On the body (which was perfectly whole) there was a coat of fine brown cloth, and a waistcoat of fine Marseilles—his pantaloons were so bloody that it was difficult to tell, what they were made of. He was shot in the groin, and a pistol was lying between his legs.

He had on an elegant pair of gilt spurs, and from other appearance had been an officer of artillery. On examining his pockets, there was found a pocket book of red Morocco, with the letters E. B. stampt on it, with a small piece of paper in it, on which was written—"That no one may be suspected of having murdered me, I do certify, that I have killed myself on account of unreturned love." On another piece of paper was written—"Oh! Elizabeth, if I thought you would even pity me, I would die contented." There will be an inquest over the body, as soon as the coroner can procure a sufficient number of men to form a jury.

"Heigh ho! 'tis a strange World we live in!"

This exclamation has been echoed and re-echoed from the days of the Spectator down to the present moment, with every variety of accent and meaning. "Heigh ho. 'tis a strange world we live in," says the blushing maiden when led to the altar, and strange it may seem, beneath the genial influence of the honey moon! "Heigh ho! 'tis a strange world I am leaving," said a malefactor, when going to execution, with scarce a thought of the gulph into which he was plunging! "Heigh ho! 'tis a strange world we live in," says the patriot, when in proportion as the Treasury of the Union sinks, the pockets of Congressmen rise—when half the taxes are sacrificed to pay for their collection—and when disinterested republicans monopolize all offices.

"Heigh ho!" rotation in office is a grand feature of our government, and each state has an equal right to the selection of a President! We have had but four Presidents since our federal compact, and out of these Virginia has had but three!—"Heigh ho! we'll have another, and Jimmy Munroe is the man!—It is a free country, and we'll knock down any one that opposes us! "Heigh ho! 'tis a strange world we live in.

Doct. N. SMITH,

SURGEON DENTIST.

RESPECTFULLY gives notice to the ladies and gentlemen of Pittsburgh, and its vicinity, that it is his determination to remain in this place—and he will gratefully receive, and punctually attend to all commands in each branch of his profession. He likewise feels under the greatest obligations to the citizens of Pittsburgh, for the liberal patronage which he has already received.—He deems it superfluous, even to mention the quality of artificial teeth, as he has inserted a considerable number, since his residence in this place—Those that entertain doubts respecting the operation, are solicited to witness specimens of his performance. He still continues to insert artificial teeth—to mend, clean and extract natural ones.—The teeth which he inserts, are warranted.—If more convenient, he will attend ladies and gentlemen at their respective places of abode.

CURE FOR COUGHS, COLDS, &c.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, Sore Throats, and approaching Consumptions, and most disorders of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluid to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough visid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and give strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present some of its painful effects.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTON'S ELIXIR, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocaton. Add to these a constant pain in my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advise of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamilton's Elixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it to do much good. A bottle was procured from Mr. Birch's, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

DOCTOR CHISHOLM'S
Anti-Bilious Pills,

Of a quality superior to any thing of the kind ever offered as a GENERAL MEDICINE, in this Country.

NOW prepared from a recipe of the celebrated Dr. Chisholm, who, from a long residence in the West-India Islands, has been enabled to favor the world with the most complete history, and most approved methods of curing all the BILIOUS DISEASES of those warm climates.

This extraordinary Medicine, which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuent of Bile, is without example; never producing debility or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child or weakly female:

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excruciating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flaxseed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and DISEASES OF THE LIVER, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case the dose may be increased according to the strength or constituton.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing and great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

The above valuable Medicine is Sold ONLY in Pittsburgh, by

Schultz's Patent Composition for Preserving Butter,

THE efficacy of which has been tested by most of the Dairys of Great-Britain and America.

Butter cured in this way may be preserved fresh as when first churned 7 years, by the use of this mixture. The manner of using it is very simple; one teaspoon full of this composition, with an equal quantity of common salt, is sufficient to preserve a pound of Butter for any length of time.

N. B. It must be observed, that Butter cured in this way, does not taste well until it has stood at least three weeks.

TO FARMERS.

THE following valuable TRACTS of LAND, situate on Conequenessing and Brush creeks in North Sewickly township, Beaver county, Penn. are offered for Sale.

No. 190, containing 200 acres. On this Tract there are about 30 acres cleared, and the greatest part is rich bottom—on the premises are a good framed dwelling house, one story high, with a good garret in which is one large room and a sleeping room—a framed kitchen adjoining of a good size, with a cellar underneath, and a spring house before the door, the water of an excellent quality—the tenant is under obligation to build a barn—A house of wood ship about 80 rods distant.

No. 178, containing 132 acres or thereabouts, in this Tract about 20 acres are cleared, from which no crop has as yet been raised, the greater part bottom—the land of an excellent quality—to this tract is attached the one eighth right in a saw-mill and a small quantity of land adjoining.

No. 173, containing 200 acres, is almost entirely bottom land on Brush creek—about 30 acres cleared—this tract is exceedingly rich and fertile, fit for meadow or corn ground.

No. 184. The undivided fourth part of 200 acres, near the Iron works of Doctor Basse—the soil good.

ALSO—Several Lots in the Town of Stoubenville.

The three first Tracts are situate 9 miles from the Town of Beaver, from one-fourth to one mile from the great road from Beaver to Mercer, and about five miles from Harmony—there are four grist mills distant from one mile an half to five miles.

Farmers wishing to purchase good lands are invited to view the premises, and for further information to call on the subscriber. The title is indisputable, and the terms easy, and to accommodate farmers either Tract will be sold separate, or the whole together. tf.
